WORDS CHARLOTTE MCMANUS

Left to right: A fresh, uplifting fragrance for both men and women, Goldfield & Banks' Bohemian Lime conjures a tropical scent of citrus trees, coriander and vetiver in an aromatic ode to Byron Bay. In Tuscan Creations La Corte, Italian designer Salvatore Ferragamo brings Renaissance Italy to life with beguilingly warm notes of white amber, Madagascan jasmine and almond milk, while Nishane's floral yet woody Nanshe — named after the Sumerian goddess of social justice — sees water flower aromas segue into an intoxicating base of patchouli and musk. THoO's Up to the Moon creates a fruity allure with notes of blackcurrant, pink grapefruit and absolute raspberry.
