With its proprietary smarter technology, LunaJets can match a client's individual needs with the most suitable private jets available.

Since its establishment in 2007, the Geneva-based company has grown into a widely acclaimed name in aviation, with offices in eight countries, partners on

Best of all, rates are highly competitive. As a market neutral provider, LunaJets offers pre-negotiated, discounted hourly rates — reaching up to 75% — and passes savings directly on to its customers. As such, clients only pay an upfront, all-inclusive payment for their flight, meaning there are no hidden extras, surcharges, monthly costs or membership fees.
